Bohemian National Hall facility:

Gallery of the Czech Center on second floor for art exhibitions and performances (1,300 square feet). The Grand ballroom (with a capacity of 300 people and 4,000 square feet) on the fourth floor is used for many different kinds of events. It is perfect for concerts, theater performances, balls, panel discussions, meetings, presentations, receptions and performances, and more. In case the number of people requires a smaller space, the part of the ballroom along the windows together with the adjacent Bar is suitable for this type of event. The modern bar has been received very well by our previous guests, with people commenting on how it resembles a bar they might see at a luxurious hotel. On the fifth floor there is a Balcony overlooking the Ballroom as well as the Glass Salon (with a capacity of 20 people) suitable for meetings, private conversations or any group of up to 20 people. A State-of-Art Cinema on the first floor is known for hosting film festivals, movie screenings and readings, presentations, small concerts and recitals; all while having a capacity of up to 60 people. We also use an outdoor space, the Roof terrace which is equipped with a wet bar, sun shades and a beautiful view of the Upper East Side. Perfect for cocktails, receptions, and summer film screenings for up to 74 people.

Facility: Saint Peter's Church, often referred to as the "Jazz Church," is an extremely popular venue for classical music concerts as well as for jazz. The Sanctuary, a real surprise for those not familiar with the space, boasts 80-foot skylighted ceilings, granite floors and red oak furniture, creating a beautiful, natural acoustic throughout the space. A 32-stop tracker-action Klais pipe organ and a Baldwin grand piano are available for use, in addition to a bass amp, a guitar amp and a set of Pearl drums. State-of-the-art sound enhancement, video projection, and archival recording equipment is built in. The Sanctuary seats approximately 300, but with the possibility of additional chairs and overflow in the Living Room, the total capacity is 550. If not used for overflow, the Living Room is ideally suited as a reception hall (complete with warming pantry) or a more intimate performance area for recitals/cabaret, seating about 150. Billy Strayhorn's Steinway (recently rebuilt) is there, together with sound enhancement and projection equipment. The Living Room also doubles as an art gallery with exhibitions changing every six weeks. All spaces are ADA compliant.
